Hours by-law set over for further study

A draft by-law to control the hours which certain businesses can stay open in Anson, Hindon and Minden Township has been set aside for further consideration by the municipal council. The proposed regulation was read at the April 23 meeting of the council.

Under the regulations contained in the draft by-law Sunday opening would be restricted to stores with a total floor area of not more than 1500 square feet and less than three employees on duty at any one time.

There is a provincial statute, the Lord's Day Act, which controls the operations of commercial establishments in Ontario on Sundays. However, since Haliburton County is considered to be in a special tourist area, it is exempted from the provisions of that act, and at the moment there are no restrictions on Sunday opening in the county.

Councillor Stuart Brandon said he objected to the principle that the township should attempt to control the hours of business within the municipality. "I, as a businessman in the community, find it repugnant for the municipality to set store hours. I wouldn't want my store hours regulated by the township council," he stated.

Brandon suggested that the council was over-stepping its responsibility by enacting the hour restrictions.

The councillor also found a number of ambiguous references in the draft by-law. He pointed out that the proposed by-law referred to the closing of food service business over 1500 square feet. He said this could apply to restaurants since they are in the "food service" business. He pointed out that there were a number of other areas which were unclear and should be changed. "This is more complex than what it first appeared to be," he commented.

Brandon suggested that if the council wanted to ensure that the three main grocery stores in the municipality, IGA, the Red and White, and the new Red and White Store scheduled to open this summer on the by-pass, remain closed on Sunday, the by-law should state that fact and not "beat around the bush" with ambiguous phrases. He suggested that if the council wanted to expand the by-law in the future, if for example, a new grocery store opened in the community, the by-law could be amended.

Reeve Sinclair Nesbitt suggested that the by-law be held over for further study and that amendments could be made to accommodate the areas of confusion pointed out by the councillor. He indicated that the intention of the by-law was not to force the closing of restaurants on Sunday.

Fugitive found in Dorset area cottage

A police search for a fugitive in the Dorset area was successfully concluded Tuesday morning when two members of the Minden OPP captured Rodney Allan Kirkpatrick in a cottage on Otter Lake.

The man had been evading police for the past two weeks in the Kawagama Lake area east of Dorset. He was arrested on Tuesday morning on charges of breach of probation and break and enter.

The man was located in a cottage on the northwest side of Otter Lake (also known as Tock Lake) by constables Reg Eveleigh and Al Barnes. The police had acted on information that the man was in the area.

The police had been concentrating their search for the man in the Kawagama Lake region where he had been seen last weekend. A number of cottagers on that lake reported that their facilities had been broken into sometime during the past week. The break-ins fit the pattern of the fugitive who, police believed, forced his way into a number of vacation homes removing food, liquor and a change of clothing before moving on.

A search early last week for the man involved the use of an Ontario Provincial Police helicopter from Toronto and a tracking dog from Peterborough.

Kirkpatrick, according to the police, was a former member of the United States Armed Forces and was trained in survival techniques. Police forces on both sides of the border considered the man to be armed and dangerous.

Kirkpatrick has now been taken to Lindsay Provincial jail where he will await his trial appearance.

Minden Scout David Coulter goes to any length to ensure his row of trees is straight. Fellow Scout, Scott Millburn stands ready to turn the sod. The two were among 35 scouts and cubs who planted 3000 trees Saturday as part of the Trees For Canada fund raising drive. Each planter had gathered pledges for the number of trees he would plant. The money raised will be used to further Scout work in the Minden area.

Merchants hear BIA possibilities

Minden town councillor and one of the prime movers behind the effort to establish a business improvement area (BIA) in this community, Stuart Brandon, was extremely pleased with the turn-out and reaction of merchants at a meeting April 22.

The meeting had been called to explain the details of the BIA and to distribute surveys to the merchants in the proposed development area. "I was pleased with the attendance," Brandon commented, noting that over 60 people, representing some 30 businesses in the core area of Minden, were on hand for the meeting. There are 53 businesses in the proposed BIA.

The councillor noted that some of those merchants who did not attend the meeting had already indicated their interest in the program.

Following the dinner portion of the meeting the merchants were shown a film on downtown revitalization. It demonstrated how the BIA program was used in the communities of Elmira, Trenton, St. Thomas and Cobourg to enhance the downtown area. Representatives of the Ministry of Housing, the ministry responsible for the administration of the BIA program, were on hand to answer questions on the success other communities have experienced and how the program is financed.

Two representatives of the consulting firm, Totten, Sims & Hubicki were also in attendance. They had prepared a series of proposals that could serve as models for the redevelopment of the Minden core. They offered suggestions on how the work could be carried out, what the costs would be, and ideas that had proved successful in other communities.

The audience was told that once the BIA is formed, the business people within that area determine the amount of money to be spent on improvements. An appointed group, including merchants from the area and at least one member of council, will then oversee the planning for the area and the spending of the funds.

All of the 53 merchants in the proposed BIA have now received their survey forms. These give some indication of the cost of the BIA program, (although it should be noted that in reference to the $100,000 and $150,000 loans, the amount the merchant is required to pay has been incorrectly recorded. The figure given represents the amount which must be paid over a ten year period. Yearly payments would be one tenth of the amount shown), and it also is an attempt to determine the amount of interest among area merchants.

The municipality would like to have the survey forms returned to the office by

Library planning begins

The Minden library and cultural centre appears to have started moving slowly toward completion, although there is still a long way to go.

At the April 23 meeting of township council several plans for the construction of the building were presented to the councillors. Township by-law enforcement officer Dick Schell told the meeting that in investigating the costs for materials for two styles of a cement block building on a concrete pad, the costs could vary from $15,000 against over $22,000. He emphasized that his figures represented the cost for the materials and did not include the erection fees or such trade items as plumbing and wiring.

Dr. Jamieson, who has been involved with the building committee for a number of years, also presented a plan to the council. She estimated that for the smaller structure it would cost about $20,000.

The by-law enforcement officer suggested that the cost of the labour to build the structure could be estimated at about two-thirds of the material costs.

The councillors will continue to study the proposed plans and will also pursue funding in the form of grants from the provincial government.

Earlier this month the council agreed to build a library and cultural centre, incorporating space for an art gallery, on a site on Bobcaygeon Road north.

Fund raising for the project has been going on for a number of months and is continuing.

FROM THE CHAMBER

By Bob Stinson

Haliburton Highlands
the heart of getaway country

The other day a visiting representative was talking to us about the various feelings he got from the different towns he visited in the course of his business. Each town has it's own character and gives off vibrations that indicate to the stranger that they may or may not be welcome, wanted or appreciated in any number of ways. It set us to wondering what impression our towns and surrounding areas are giving. Look around, carefully, imagine yourself here for the first time and try to feel what a newcomer would feel seeing what you see.

In some cases you will see clutter, untidy and unpainted buildings, fences, signs and debris such as old wrecked cars that indicate we may not be very anxious to encourage these strangers to stop and visit. In some cases you will see clerks who only have time to be friendly to people whom they know from the area. Then there will be some where the atmosphere is inviting and friendly and the surroundings attractive and comfortable. Where would you go? Which community do you want to be part of?

"Shaping up"

The new look is coming. The old building by the Corner Store at 35 and 121 at Minden has been demolished and is being replaced by a clean new storage building. Cox's apparel is getting an attractive new store front and the Rockcliffe Hotel received a major face lifting this year.

In Haliburton Village the old Echo building is now gone, the new bank is almost complete and finishing touches are being put on the front of the Stedman's store and the second floor addition is opening for business. Crews are working on the road and the new park on Head Lake.

Over in Wilberforce we hear that ground was broken this week on yet another new store. The old Sunoco station on the edge of town is taking on a new appearance as Ken and Lynn Binskin complete their renovations to transform it into the new location for their "Rock-hound Rendezvous", along with items of interest to mineral enthusiasts the shop is also going to feature tourist information for the region and operators are invited to bring their brochures in for distribution.

Help for "shaping up"

If you want to do some "shaping up" this spring start by looking in our new Building Trades Directory for members of the Chamber who can provide assistance. Your sign is an important advertisement for your business and if yours is getting to look a little shabby give Don Nye a call at Woodland Graphics. We hasten to add that his phone number is listed incorrectly in our book and you can reach him at 286-2839.

If it's general painting and decorating that it will take to spruce up your operation you will find Gino Ziorjen listed in our directory and he is fast gaining an enviable reputation in our area for fine workmanship. For odd jobs we have two new members listed this year in that category. Don Heaven operates Haliburton Handymen and Peter Windover recently started Complete Cottage Care to provide a host of services for property owners in the area. If new siding would do the trick, Petrini Construction is another new member listed who could be of assistance. Nathan Petrini specializes in vinyl and aluminum siding along with storm doors and windows.

A good selection of building supply dealers are listed in the directory where you may shop for materials. While doing so drop into Emmerson Lumber and say hello to Ray Arppe, the new general manager and now a part owner in the firm. Ray has cottaged here on Kennisis for many years and just recently moved to Haliburton as a year round businessman. We welcome him and hope you will.

Another pharmacy hit by thieves

The Cauldron Pharmacy in Haliburton has become the latest target of burglars.

The store on Haliburton's main street was broken into late Saturday night. A quantity of drugs was removed from the premises. The value of the drugs was estimated at $400 while the damage to the store was $40.

According to police the intruders gained entrance to the store by removing an outer window at the rear of the premises and breaking an inner window.

OPP Constable Jim Solway is investigating the incident.

Truck taken

A 1978 model Blazer belonging to Eastons Groceries Ltd. in Haliburton was removed from the Red and White store parking lot last Wednesday afternoon. After the vehicle was taken from the lot it was observed in a number of locations in Haliburton. The vehicle has not been recovered.

The matter is being investigated by Constable Weldon Popp.

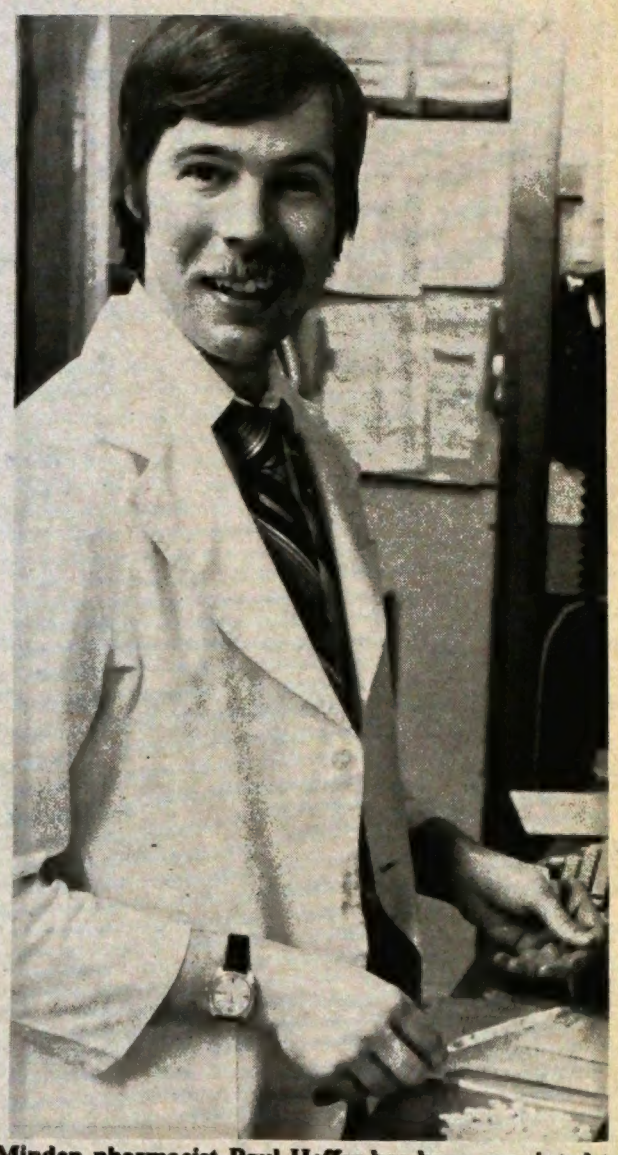
Mischief

A charge of mischief has been laid against a Niagara Falls man following an incident Saturday morning in the Ingoldsby area.

According to police James A. McCracken, 20, threw a beer bottle at a car belonging to Kenneth W. Ciszek, also of Niagara Falls. McCracken is also alleged to have driven his vehicle into the rear fender of the Ciszek car and fled the scene. The damage was estimated at $200.

McCracken is scheduled to appear in provincial court May 13 to answer the charge.

Constable Boyd Jarvis of Minden OPP investigated the incident.



Minden pharmacist Paul Heffer has been appointed to the Haliburton-Victoria-Pine Ridge Health Council. The appointment was announced last week. The Minden position on the council had been vacant for almost a year. Phyllis Campbell had represented the community on the council.

Sale request placed on hold

Minden Township council has received its first request to sell the 66 foot shore allowance in front of a cottage, since the new provincial government policy was announced earlier this month. The request, in the form of a letter from a Twelve Mile Lake cottager, was read at the April 23 meeting of the council.

The writer requested that the council provide him with details regarding the procedures to be followed and the costs involved.

According to the clerk, while this is the first written request, a number of telephone enquiries have been received at the municipal office seeking information about the policy.

The Ontario government recently announced it was withdrawing any objections to the sale of lakefront shore allowance. In the past the government has rejected any attempts by municipalities to sell the Crown land. The land is under the control of the local government, although the province must agree before the allowance can be closed and sold to individuals.

Reeve Sinclair Nesbitt suggested that the request be placed on file and the municipality refrain from selling any shore allowances until a policy is struck at the county level. The reeve also pointed out that selling the shore allowances for $250, a figure being used by the Ministry of Natural Resources, will not cover the costs of the transfer. He said that a fee of $500 may have to be charged.

In any event, it appears unlikely the Anson, Hindon and Minden council will begin selling the property until the common policy is reached. As well the council will probably deal with all applications at once rather than attempt to consider one request at a time.

Brush-wood banned from Minden dump

If you have a pile of brush and other wooden material around the house, and you've been thinking about taking it to the dump, this is the day to do it.

Minden Township council, meeting April 23, passed a resolution which makes the depositing of such material at the Minden site of the Scotch Line Road illegal. The embargo was placed on brush for a number of reasons.

The councillors noted that the dump is filling in rapidly. Since the council anticipates dump site in the municipality, the councilors are attempting to extend the capacity of the dump to its fullest by banning bulky items like brush.

In addition, the brush at the Minden dump was often burned and was blamed for starting other garbage material on fire. It was felt that by removing the brush and burning from the Scotch Line site there would be less chance of fires at the dump.

Garbage such as brush and wooden products can now be taken to the Ingoldsby dump site. Residents are asked to pile the brush, separated from other garbage, in a special location at the Ingoldsby site where it will be burned.

Starting next month a watchman will be on duty at the Scotch Line Road site and only household garbage will be allowed to be deposited there.

Contract awarded

The council has accepted the tender of Tom Prentice for the maintenance of the Scotch Line dump site through to the end of the year. Included in the work will be the monitoring of dumping at the site, fire control and ensuring the garbage is covered on a regular basis. The dump will only be open during set daytime hours. These are to be posted at the dump gate.

D. Marucelj, a representative of Totten, Sims Hubicki explains a point about park development along the Gull River during the BIA meeting April 22. The meeting drew over 60 members of the local business community as plans for the creation of a business improvement area in the village core begin to take shape.

Apology tendered to society officer

Minden Reeve Sinclair Nesbitt has apologized to Helen Johnson over comments made several years ago with regard to the handling of Haliburton County Agricultural Society funds. The apology was requested by Mrs. Johnson at the April 23 meeting of the council.

According to Mrs. Johnson, when the township agreed to purchase the fairgounds from the Agricultural Society for a price of $30,000, to be paid in six, $5,000 installments. Mrs. Johnson told the meeting she had received a list of dates from the municipal clerk indicating when those six cheques were issued.

Mrs. Johnson told the council that due to some confusion in an effort to obtain government grants to assist with the purchase, it appeared that not all the money intended for the Agricultural Soceity had been properly accounted for. She noted that the situation became further confused when Sinclair Nesbitt made a remark about her having spent the money on a "fling".

Mrs. Johnson noted that she had served as secretary-treasurer for the society for the past four years.

"I have been under a constant harangue for the past three years because of the transfer of the money from the municipality to the society," she told the council meeting. "It may have started as a joke, but it is not funny when people keep insinuating you have taken $5,000. I would like an apology recorded in the council minutes and a written apology from Mr. Nesbitt."

She said that according to the list of dates given her by the township clerk, each of the cheques is accounted for, "...there are none missing," she stated.

Mrs. Johnson went on to say that this "joke" has followed her for the last three years, "and it has ceased to be funny." She said she might consider running for elected office in the future and the stories and rumours about the $5,000 could hurt her chances to win the favour of the electorate.

Reeve Sinclair Nesbitt disagreed with a portion of Mrs. Johnson's comments. He said that the first $5,000 paid to the Agricultural Society is not noted in one cheque in the municipal records. He said the money was paid in small amounts to the society to help defray the cost of the fall fair that year. "That is why the clerk cannot find a record of that cheque," he commented.

Mrs. Johnson disagreed strongly with Nesbitt's comment stating that the clerk had assured her there were six cheques on file.

Nesbitt commented, "I apologize for having suggested you had a 'bust' or 'fun' with the money. I'm sorry, and I'm willing to put that in writing.

While Mrs. Johnson received the apology she was seeking from Nesbitt, neither party in the dispute seemed to be satisfied with the results of the heated discussion.

Of the 13 forms which have been returned already, all have indicated a positive interest in the BIA program. If enough positive response is received, the first phase, the passing of a BIA by-law, could commence with the first council meeting in May.

Shooters prepare for season

The time has come to take that rifle down off the wall or get that revolver out of storage. The start of the season for the Haliburton County Marksmen Club is just around the corner.

According to the president of the organization, Jeff Lodenquai, a number of improvements and changes are planned at the club's range north of Minden. Included in the program for this year is the fencing of the range and the building of a trap house.

In addition, the club hopes to move a clubhouse into place at the range site. This structure has been donated by Dr. John Purc and will provide a place for the club members to meet and to avoid the elements during shoots at the range.

The first shoot of the new season has been slated for June 8. It will be a turkey shoot for shotgun, rifle and handgun. The event is open to members and the general public and will mark the first anniversary of the formation of the club.

A higher profile

The Minden detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police has unveiled plans to crack down on speeders and drinking drivers, to strike a higher profile in the community, to step-up cottage patrols and, in general, make it more difficult for those who may consider breaking the law in Haliburton County.

We endorse their plans and hope the citizens of the community give the police the support they need to carry out their work.

One of the most tragic aspects of the annual influx of summer visitors to this county is the large number of traffic accidents that occur. Many of these accidents are the result of speeding on the narrow, twisting gravel roads which are a trademark of this part of the province. Greater use of the radar and enforcement of the speed limit on area highways should help to impress upon the drivers the need to stay within the limit.

Impaired driving is an offence we find particularly repugnant. Other countries of the world, notably the Scandinavian nations, have recognized this fact and severely punish those found driving in an intoxicated state. The use of the ALERT system for roadside testing as well as stricter enforcement of the Highway Traffic Act regulations will help to eliminate their menace from our highways.

The local police are becoming more "visible". Their presence in the villages of the county has become more noticeable. Knowing that next car to round the corner may be a cruiser or that the officers are now carrying out foot patrols should be a deterrent to anyone contemplating criminal activity.

Likewise, in lake areas, increased police patrols, by car, boat and snowmobile, will help to secure the property of cottagers.

Canada is not a police state. It is a country where the citizens have written the laws to protect the rights, safety and property of all. By vigorously enforcing these laws the police enhance these aspects of our society.

Dorset residents hear acid rain story

Several lakes in Haliburton County may need to be limed to protect the aquatic life," Dr. Tom Brydges of the Ministry of the Environment told an audience Wednesday evening in Dorset.

Brydges, head of the Limnology and Toxicity section of the ministry was speaking to a group of about 70 people at a community information meeting. The meeting had been called to keep Dorset area residents informed on the activities of the MOE.

Brydges told the group that liming lakes is not an answer to acid rain. "By adding lime to the lakes we are only neutralizing the impact of the acid rainfall," he commented. "A more permanent solution would be to eliminate the problem at the source."

The Ministry of the Environment has been operating a testing station and labratory on the outskirts of Dorset for a number of years. From this location environmentalists and scientists have been monitoring area lakes to determine the impact the acidified precipitation is having on aquatic plant and fish life.

The ministry has indicated that a major new effort will begin this year in tracing the acid rain impact in the area. This will mean an expansion of the facilities at Dorset and will see an increase in the staff.

(One potential impact of the expansion of MOE staff in the Dorset area may be an increase in the number of students attending the school in that community. The Haliburton County Board of Education have indicated the school may be closed at the end of the 1980-81 school term because of decreasing enrollment. Members of the local community have been fighting this proposal and so the addition of school aged children to the community may assist them in their efforts to keep the school open.)

The audience viewed a recently produced motion picture entitled "The Case Against Acid Rain" and then grilled MOE officials on aspects of their work and the impact of the acidified precipitation on the area.

Brydges was asked why sport fishing lakes in the Haliburton and Muskoka area were not on the top of the ministry's list of priorities for remedial action. He explained, "The lakes in the Sudbury region are in desparate need of liming. Our research has indicated that there are no lakes in this area that need immediate attention." He conceded however that as the waterways of the area absorb more acidified precipitation, and as major United States power companies switch from oil to coal as a source of heat for steam generation, that situation will change.

He assured the audience Haliburton County was the main area of research for the ministry. "You won't see us packing our tents until a solution is found," Brydges told the audience.

The MOE spokesman said there was no indication of when a solution would be found. He said the ministry would continue to study the problem and attempt to maintain the fish life in area lakes by adding lime where needed.

He cautioned however that indiscriminate dumping of lime or limestone in area lakes could harm the environment.

He said that some fish are particularly sensitive to rapid changes in their environment and attempting to neutralize a lake quickly could kill off acquatic life just as acid rain threatens to do.

MNR position on allowances

(A press release from the Minden District office of the Ministry of Natural Resources).

Based on conflicting newspaper articles, and on the many inquiries received through our Minden office, there appears to be a need to clarify the Ministry of Natural Resources position relating to recent policy changes for waterfront lots, applicable to this area.

It should be clearly understood that all 66-foot road allowances established in original township surveys in the Minden District, including those surrounding our lakes, comes under the jurisdiction of the local municipalities. This applies in all organized municipalities.

Many owners of land adjacent to waterways have over the years constructed cottages and other structures on the 66-foot road allowance. They have also placed docks and other structures on the underwater Crown land in front of their properties.

In recognition of this, in most cases the Ministry of Natural Resources will no longer object to municipalities stopping up and disposing of road allowances to owners of the abutting land, if they wish to do so.

Crown land comes under the jurisdiction of the Ministry of Natural Resources. Most existing docks and other structures for private use, located on Crown land under water, will be viewed as necessary to the ownership and maintenance of waterfront property. The owners will be permitted to continue using the Crown land so occupied, without written approval or payment of fees. Proposals to construct new docks and other such structures along the waterfront will be subject to approval of the local municipality.

Where an improvement on Crown land under water consists of dredging, land fill and/or a structure with living quarters, the owner of the improvement must obtain formal authority from the Ministry of Natural Resources.

Editor:

The reports in the press with regard to the discussion in County Council dealing with the subject of acid rain and damage to our lakes, indicates some concern is felt by the members, but it also points to the need for some study of the possibilities arising from the use of lime.

Dr. T. Brydges has made it eloquently clear for all who wish to seek the information, that liming has a place in the effort to meet the problem caused by acid fall-out. He has indicated that there is some risk involved, and that the risk to acquatic life can be minimized by a properly controlled program of application of lime based on the findings of the studies now being carried out. Whatever one's thoughts on this subject may be, no satisfactory results will flow from any panic inspired action on the part of conerned people. Posturing and shouting will achieve little, but an effort on the part of all who are concerned, to learn as much as we can about the problem will enable a more intelligent assessment of the work being done by the water quality branch and the fisheries branch of the Ministry of Environment.

Most of the lakes in Haliburton county are not believed to be experiencing any fast change of water quality, but many are subject to acid stress during the spring run off and these return to a healthy condition in the summer. This is said to be due to the presence of neutralizing agents in the lakes or surrounding areas.

Thus, it would appear that the first step would be to ask for an alkalinity measurement of any lakes about which there may be concern and these may be obtained from the Ontario Ministry of Environment.

All concerned people should exert a strong firm and unrelenting pressure on local, provincial and federal politicians to bring about control of atmospheric pollution at the source, and to achieve an international treaty between Canada and the U.S. on such controls. Both countries share the blame for damage done to the other, admittedly in different degrees, but finger pointing will solve nothing, so the drive for the control treaty must go on even if success is still some years off.

It might be well to point to the fact that the liming program to reclaim lakes in Sweden has been practically abandoned as being too expensive and having produced a minimum of success.

Reeve Murray Fearrey is to be congratulated on his stand on the subject when it was discussed in County Council.

REPORT FROM QUEEN'S PARK

By John Eakins, M.P.P.

Of course, the big news this week was the provincial budget brought down on April 22. Ontario pensioners will receive an extra $75 million from the province this year to offset property and sales taxes and supplement low incomes. Pensioners who pay property taxes or rent will get a grant of up to $500. Those receiving the guaranteed annual income supplement will receive up to an extra $10 a month, and all pensioners receiving OAS will get a $50 annual grant to offset sales tax payments.

There is also a $50 million incentive package for small business; a 5% discount in the price of wine, liquor and beer bought by licensed establishments, and the payment to retail sales tax collectors goes up to $1,000 a year.

Also in the budget were a provincial subsidy of 25% of mining exploration expenses, $3 million in tax exemptions for machines used in research and development, and $14 million in tax incentives for energy conservation. Farmers are to receive $1.5 million in sales tax rebates for grain drying equipment, there is $125 million for the Employment Development Fund and the flat $100 capital tax is now extended to corporations with capital between $100,000 and $1 million.

Total expenditures are estimated at $17.121 billion and revenue at $16,172 billion, giving rise to a deficit of $949 million.

The Liberal Party has introduced a motion of non-confidence in the provincial government, condemning it for not providing immediate relief to homeowners, farmers and small businessmen staggering under high interest rates.

Grants to pulp and paper companies

A pulp and paper company controlled by one of Canada's largest holding companies has been given $38 million by the provincial and federal governments to help modernize two of its plants. Great Lakes Forest Products Ltd., a subsidiary of Canadian Pacific Investments Ltd. will receive $25.3 million from Ontario's Employment Development Fund and $12.7 million from the federal Department of Regional Economic Expansion as part of a series of grants to pulp and paper corporations.

Liberal Leader Stuart Smith has protested that the money should be given to small companies struggling to survive under the weight of rising interest rates. "At least the money could be lent instead of given to prosperous companies."

OPP seeks greater 'visibility' in county

Haliburton County residents and visitors will probably notice an increase in police activity in the coming months.

This effort at creating a higher profile for the local constabulary, the Minden detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police, is due in part to the direction of Sergeant Bill Bailey who recently took charge of the local office.

The police will be more active in a number of areas including prosecuting Highway Traffic Act infractions, pursuing drinking drivers and attempting to reduce criminal activity.

The police plan to begin regular use of radar on Highway 35, especially during the weekends when traffic to and from the large centres in the south creates dangerous hazardous driving conditions. The large number of cars on the road and the desire of some cottagers to reach their destination as quickly as possible, has led, at times, to serious accidents along the Highway 35 route. The sergeant comments that the use of enforcement vehicles along the highway will ensure that the speed portion of that hazardous situation is kept under control.

The officers of the local detachment will be on radar duty during the weekend period using traditional OPP cruisers as well as something known in police jargon as a SLEP car.

The initials stand for Selective Law Enforcement Protection and refers to a police car that lacks the tell-tale roof lamps, siren and bumper lights. The only markings that indicate it is an OPP vehicle is the standard crest on the white side doors. From the front or the rear the vehicle appears to be a normal black car.

When the SLEP car is in the area it will be equipped with the radar. "We intend to make extensive use of the SLEP car," the sergent commented. "I am very concerned about the high speeds and heavy traffic flow, especially on the weekends. We want to make this a safe area."

As part of the increased emphasis on traffic offenses, the detachment will also be making extensive use of the roadside breath testing apparatus known as ALERT. This small hand held machine operates in a fashion similar to the breathalyzers which have been in use across the country for many years. If a police officer suspects a driver has been drinking he can demand the driver blow into the machine. The ALERT gives a general reading of the alcoholic content of the driver's breath. The officer will know, after administering the test, whether to allow the driver to continue, warn him that, while not yet past the legal impairment limit, he should not drive, or take the driver to the detachment office for a breathalyzer test.

The reading of the ALERT are not admissable as evidence in court, as, for example, are the results of the breathalyzer. However it is an offense not to blow into the ALERT machine when requested to do so by an officer.

One of the big advantages of the ALERT equipment is that it will give an officer who is patrolling some distance from the detachment, an indication of whether he should transport a driver across the county for a breathalyzer test at the Minden office.

Other measures

While these enforcement measures will be the most "visible" in the county, the local detachment will also be stepping up other activities, these directed toward the prevention of crime.

According to Sergeant Bailey, the detachment has applied for and will be receiving two more officers. This will bring the staff at the local detachment up to 21 constables. A cadet police officer will also be serving in the area during the summer to assist with marine patrols.

"I am aware of the desire of many people in the area to have 24 hour police patrols in the county," Sergeant Bailey commented. "However, with a complement of 21 it is impossible to implement."

The sergeant stated that a minimum of 24 constables would be needed for three eight hour shifts each day. This would involve a corporal for each shift and five constables. He said that until the strength of the detachment reaches that point, round-the-clock patrols are not possible.

He noted that the officers on duty have been carrying out more foot patrols in the various business areas and generally becoming more "visible". He said that seeing an officer on foot or a police car in an area on a regular basis can be a deterrent to criminals.

The hours of patrol have also been varied in all communities, and these hours are constantly changing, according to the sergeant. The purpose is to not provide a pattern for those who may be watching the activities of the police.

Commenting on the question of patrols in the Haliburton Village area and the desire of a number of merchants for increased police presence in that community, Sergeant Bailey stated, "Haliburton Village gets equal or better police patrols than any other part of the county." He noted that the clearance rate of crimes committed in the village is high.

Officers who patrol on foot are also being equipped with portable radios so they can remain in touch with the detachment while they are out of their cars.

The activities of the OPP are not just confined to land. The marine patrol, with a skiff located at the Minden office provides officers with another method of extending their presence into the community. The boat is used for search and rescue, cottage patrols and for enforcement of marine safety regulations. The radar unit which the detachment has can be used in the boat as well.

The detachment can draw on other resources in its efforts as well. Several of the local detachment are qualified Scuba divers who can be called in to assist at scenes of crimes or accidents. As well, the detachment can call on Scout, six year old German shepherd dog based in Peterborough, for searches, crowd control and other specialized tasks. The dog and his handler, Constable Paul MacNeil, were in the Dorset area last week assisting in the search for a fugitive.

Other services such as identification, specialists in drug cases, fraud and other criminal activity are available to the local detachment from district headquarters in Peterborough or central command in Toronto.

As part of the search in the Dorset area, the local detachment used one of the OPP helicopters based in Toronto to assist.

"These are resources which, although they are not right at hand, are readily available to use," Sergeant Bailey noted. "All we need do is ask!"

A CHEX television reporter gets a graphic demonstration of the ferocity of Scout a tracking dog based with the OPP in Peterborough. The reporter had fired a revolver loaded with blanks. The dog's trainer, Constable Paul McNeil digs in his heels to hold back the dog. The canine is one of the resources the local detachment can call on for tracking and search and rescue operations.

The police car in the foreground will be used in Haliburton County during the summer months to apprehend speeders and other traffic violators. The vehicle lacks the usual light and siren array on the roof so that drivers approaching it from the front or rear will be unable to tell it is a police vehicle. Constable Rick Sunberg, chats will a driver on the shoulder of Highway 35 in this staged photo. When in the county, the Selective Law Enforcement Protection (SLEP) vehicle will be equipped with radar.

Lutterworth lacks liquor law

An attempt by a Lutterworth Township restaurant to obtain a liquor licence has been thwarted because someone asked the wrong question.

The situation came to light earlier this month when the owner of the Wagon Wheel Restaurant on Highway 35 applied to the Ontario Liquor Licence Board (LLBO) for permission to sell wine, beer and liquor to its patrons. The LLBO responded to the request by saying the residents of Lutterworth had not approved the serving of those beverages in a dining establishment. Until such approval was granted, in a plebiscite, the licence could not be issued.

Both the owner of the restaurant and the administration of the township were sure that permission had been granted during the 1978 municipal election when a liquor question was included on the ballot.

However, according to a clarification received from the LLBO, the question which received the nod from the voters was whether wine beer and liquor could be served in a licenced lounge. For the Wagon Wheel Restaurant to have qualified the question which should have been asked was whether the voters approved of the beverages in a dining lounge setting, where food is available.

According to the township's clerk treasurer, at the time of the last municipal vote, the asistance of LLBO officials was requested in selecting the correct question to ask. At that time the official had been told to select the question (in the matter of a local option, the LLBO has a selection of eight different questions which can be asked, each referring to only one aspect of the sale of liquor wine or beer within a municipality) which would allow the sale of alcohol on the premises where the serving of food is optional. The question recommended by the official was endorsed, but not before anyone realized that it granted approval for beverage room permits only. There are no beverage rooms in Lutterworth Township.

The council was told that the question, that is the question it was intended to have asked the first time, will have to be put to the voters again before any dining establishment within the municipality can be licenced to serve liquor.

It was suggested that since the LLBO official had helped with the selection of the question in 1978 that perhaps some pressure might be brought to bear on the government to allow the dining lounge to receive a permit. However, there appeared to be little chance that such a tactic would work.

Norma Lougheed, owner of the Wagon Wheel Restaurant, told The Times that she had been prepared to proceed with wine and beer service as soon as the licence was approved. She said she had understood that the question aked in 1978 would have been adequate to allow dining lounges, like the one she proposed for her establishment, to be licenced in the township.

"I guess we'll just have to wait until the fall when the next vote is held," she commented.

Boys unlock the secrets of small engines

Eleven members of the Minden 4-H Club successfully completed the small engines course held during the past few months at Archie Stouffer Elementary School.

The youngsters have been meeting at the school one evening a week with their instructors to discover the inner workings of a number of small motors. Some of the members brought lawn mowers or old gas-powered engines that had seen their last day.

With obvious delight, they stripped down the non-operative machines in an attempt to find out what was wrong. After identifying the problem, they attempted to fix them. In most cases they were successful but some engines were deemed to be irreparable.

Those successfully completing the course include, at the right, Paul Aggett of Kinmount, Carl Alexander of Minden, Allan Barnhart of Stanhope, Steven and Jack Burton of Lochlin, Michael Gorveatt of Stanhope, Aaron Kishner of Norland, Brian Mann of Minden, Danny Stiver of Minden and Jim Wruth of Lochlin. Absent is Tim Beaver of Minden.

While April 24 marked the final evening for the club, there was still time for picking up a few pointers from a pro, below. Club member Paul Aggett discusses the finer points of a small engine with Bob Patton, the owner of North Shore Lawn and Garden Equipment in Stanhope Township. Bob had been invited as a special guest for the final evening.

Revised subdivision plan approved by township

Minden Township council has approved a revised subdivision plan for a development on Minden Lake. The plan was presented by the developer Elmar Hodsoll at the April 23 meeting.

The revised plan of subdivision reduced the number of proposed lots from 31 to 25.

The development has been the centre of a controversy for the past few months as cottagers on Minden Lake voiced their objections to any development taking place. Originally planned as a seasonal residential development, the cottagers had pushed to have the area approved for only permanent homes.

The original development plan, and the objections of the cottagers, was presented at an Ontario Municipal Board hearing earlier this month in Minden. The board has yet to hand down its decision.

The developer proposed that the draft plan be submitted to the lawyer representing the cottagers on the lake and that they would have 14 days to file their complaints with the municipality. Once the comments have been received, the council would then consider the revised plan further and a decision would be taken as to whether to allow the project to proceed.

Councillor Stuart Brandon commented that there appeared to be no question that the council was satisfied with the original proposal and the revised plan as well. Reeve Sinclair Nesbitt noted that if the development was reduced to less than 25 lots it would be difficult to justify the length of road required to reach the subdivision.

The reeve also noted that the original subdivision plan was approved by the Ontario government, therefore he could see little reason why the revised plan should not be accepted as well.

The revised plan was described by the developer as a "compromise". He noted that the new lay-out of lots would mean most have increased in size and they would have an average frontage of 118 ft. Hodsoll said the revised plan more than met the qualifications set down by the government.

Group worried over 2-4-D use

Two members of the Haliburton County Anti-Pollution Committee approached Anson, Hindon and Minden Township council Wednesday evening to voice their concerns about the use of herbicides in the municipality.

Belinda Brown, speaking on behalf of the organization, told the council the group was pleased that the Ministry of the Environment had withdrawn a proposal to allow the use of 2-4-5-T and 2-4-5-TP herbicides in the province, but the group was still concerned that 2-4-D would be used in its place. "The use of 2-4-D has been linked to birth defects, cancer and other health problems," Brown told the meeting. She said there appeared to be a link between the use of the herbicide and Reyes Syndrome, a disease affecting young children.

The representatives were told that there were no plans by the township or the county to use herbicides on roadside vegetation. However, it was pointed out that the local municipalities have no control over the activities of the Ministry of Transportation and Communications or Ontario Hydro in their spraying programs.

Reeve Sinclair Nesbitt suggested that with the high rate of unemployment in the county, these government agencies should be encouraged to cut weed and tree growth along their rights-of-way instead of spraying.

Brown noted that Ontario Hydro at one time used to seek the opinion of landowners as to whether they would object to having herbicides used under power lines crossing their property. She said that option, between cutting and spraying, is not being offered to the property owners any more.

Councillor Stuart Brandon suggested that the committee find alternatives to the spraying of herbicides if they were concerned about their potential health hazard. "The council and the various government agencies are more responsive to positive solutions than negative protests," he commented.

It was mentioned by the president of the committee, Sonya Holliday-Rhodes, that cutting might be one option open to the various agencies. She also noted that the Ministry of Natural Resources is planning to use a virus to combat the pine saw fly.

The committee representatives said they would be keeping the council informed of their efforts and research.

County Annual Festival of Fun

The following is a press release from the Boy Scouts Festival of Fun organizer.

On Thursday, May 15 (7:30 to 10:00 p.m.), the Boy Scouts of Carnarvon, Haliburton, and Minden will hold their 4th Festival of Fun at the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School.

Each year an effort has been made to involve as much local talent as possible within one evening. This year a number of the performers will be in the Festival for the first time.

Arrangements have been made for individuals and group performances, such as: choral and small group singing; dancing; recitals; humorous skits; bands; a variety of instrumental music; and gymnastics.

Due to the efforts of many persons the Scouts' Festival of Fun has always been a big success. The Festival itself is a special Haliburton County event in that it brings together the county's scouting groups, and talented residents, in an evening of good entertainment and fun.

Since the many performers are providing their services without a fee, there will be no admission charge. However, a collection will be taken, and refreshments will be sold. All proceeds will go again to the Haliburton Chapter of the Ontario Association for Children with Learning Disabilities.

Green Thumb Corner

Flowers and vegetables are social plants, they enjoy mixed and varied company.

That apparently is the idea behind companion planting, a theory which suggests that placing certain plants together in a garden will increase the yield and reduce the invasion of pests. It is an interesting idea and one that is explored by Bob Fleming, of the Horticultural Research Institute of Ontario in the Green Thumb Corner this week.

Mixed company

Petunias and potatoes, zinnias and zucchini, asparagus and asters; maybe we should grow our gardens alphabetically. Plant associations do exist for the mutual benefit of all. The nitrogen-fixing ability of the legume plants, which benefits all of its plant neighbours, is one of the most common examples.

Plant companions are not always for mutual benefit. Some plants are said to act as a deterrent to certain insects. Nasturtiums are said to deter beetles, larkspur, and aphids, while marigolds are a known detterent to soil nematodes. Many other similar plant associations occur, but for the practical home gardener companion planting may mean getting the most from the garden.

Most home gardens are divided into two parts - the flower border and the vegetable garden. There is no reason why the two cannot be combined. Many of our vegetables are attractive, colorful foliage plants. Incorporate the purple-green beet foliage, the lacey fern-like leaves of carrots, and use leaf lettuce as an edging for the flower border.

Many of our ornamental flowering shrubs are just as attractive in fruit, as in flower. Tomato plants, properly supported or grown in cages, pepper plants, or even eggplants make interesting featues in a flower border. The tomato in fruit, the pepper in fruit, the glossy-green pepper foliage, eggplant's large, silvery-green leaves and deep purple fruit are attractive additions to the flower garden. Cucumbers and melons can be grown as climbing vines at the back of a sunny flower border. Possibly pole beans could be used in a similar location. Be sure to leave room behind the plants for easy harvest.

The vegetable garden also has its plant companions. Nasturtiums, in addition to their possible use as beetle deterrent, have delicious peppery-flowered leaves that can add a tingle to any summer salad. The bright-orange and yellow flowers produced all summer add a bright spot of color to the vegetable garden.

The new "Dark Opal" cultivar of basil is good for the flower or vegetable garden. The deep, bronze-purple foliage is just as flavorful for cooking as its older relative. Basil and other herbs, such as rosemary, sage and onions, discourage cabbage moths.

A row of gladiolus, chrysanthemums or asters in the vegetable garden may not deter any insect pests or prevent from spreading, but it can supply cut flowers for home decoration throughout the growing season.

Companion planting has many meanings for different gardeners. The benefits in many instances are doubtful, in others they are of questionable value. Combining the best from the flower garden and the vegetable garden may result in a more interesting gardening season, a more colorful vegetable patch, and a high-yielding flower border.

At least two staff members from the Ontario Hydro office, Minden, were on hand for a special presentation made in Orillia recently. Minden area manager Cal Wilson, second from left, and lineman Jim Davis, second from right, were two of 162 employees selected to represent fellow workers in the Georgian Bay Region and receive the President's Award. The award is given to the area with the best safety record. During 1979 the region, which stretches from here to Lake Huron, north to Parry Sound and south to Bolton experienced only four lost time injuries. The lost time frequency rate for the region is 2.4, while the national average for electrical utilities is 14.1. With the two local Hydro employees are, on the left, director for the Georgian Bay Region, Al Perttula, and Douglas J. Gordon, right, president of Ontario Hydro. (Photo by Hydro).

If you don't smoke, Equitable can light up your life with a new non-smokers contract

Yes . . . Equitable thinks you deserve more than a clean ash tray for not smoking. That's why they have developed a brand new life insurance contract designed particularly for those who have not smoked a cigarette for at least the last twelve months. Pipe and cigar users are not considered smokers, so they qualify automatically.
Let's talk about how our non-smoker's contract can "light up your life".

Minden Women's Institute

The new officers for the coming year were chosen at the April 16 meeting of Minden's Women's Institute. The president will be Mrs. Clare Brown.

There were 23 members at the meeting which was held at the United Church hall.

After the usual reports, Mrs. W. Moore, card convener, reported having sent 16 cards since the last meeting. Some thank you cards were read and personal thanks given by some of the members present.

It was decided that the Institute would make a $30 donation to the Archie Stouffer Public School. The money will be used as prizes in the judging of the pupils' work for display at the Fall Fair. The judging will take place May 7.

Honoraria of $10 each were voted to be paid to the secretary, Mrs. J. Hulbig, and the treasurer, Mrs. A. Kernohan, for their work during the past year.

Collections for Pennies for Friendship and the card fund were taken. Most of the members paid their dues and also paid for their tickets for the bus trip to Kitchener. Organizers hope to be able to collect the meal money, $3.75, before bus day, May 28.

Mrs. Kernohan was appointed delegate to the area convention in November.

The funds raised by two raffles during the past two years were definitely voted towards library costs.

Mrs. Lyman Cox, past president, conducted the election of officers. Those serving with the president, Mrs. Clare Brown, include: first vice president, Mrs. P. Clarke; second vice president Mrs. Ern Hewitt; secretary Mrs. J. Hulbig; treasurer Mrs. A. S. Kernohan; branch directors Mrs. Robert Hughes, Mrs. Arnold Coulter, Mrs. W. Moore and Mrs. Holly Stevens; district director Mrs. Lyman Cox; alternate district director Mrs. M. Bunker.

The following conveners were also chosen for the coming year: agriculture and Canadian industry, Mrs. H. Stevens; citizenship and world affairs Mrs. M. Bunker; education and cultural activities Yvonne Beaucage; card convener Mrs. W. Moore; pianist Mrs. Clarke; current events Mrs. M.J. O'Neill; curators Mrs. M. Sears and Mrs. J. Grant; resolutions Mrs. R. Hughes; public relations officer Mrs. W. Moore; secret pals Mrs. Don Berry; and auditors Mrs. Arnold Coulter and Mrs. Stan Briggs.

The meeting then adjourned and all enjoyed the lunch and social half hour. Several members dropped in on the cake decorating class which was taking place in another room at the church.

The May meeting will be at the spacious home of Mervyn Bunker, May 21, at 2 p.m. Any interested ladies are welcome to join us.

Haliburton County pioneer Winnifred Bedlington celebrated her ninety-eighth birthday Monday at the home of her daughter Mrs. Glynn Lewis. Mrs. Bedlington is the author of a book of poems entitled 'Verses'. She is still active and recalls vividly the early days in the county. Members of Lutterworth Township council gathered at the home of Deputy Reeve Glynn Lewis to help mark her birthday. Seen with Lewis, left, is Reeve Ron Gambell and Councillor Allan Stott.

SENIOR LEAGUE

by Linda English

Monday evening was Movie time at Hyland Crest and we were priviliged to view two very interesting films. The first, called "Voyage of a Humming Bird" was filmed in Trinidad. We were taken on a tour of the beautiful islands in the Carribean on board the Hummingbird.

"Newfoundland Hospitality" took us to Newfoundland with a young couple and their two children. We visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Button, and experienced the warm friendly atmosphere of their home. The scenery was lovely in both of the movies and our residents enjoyed seeing how people live in other parts of the world.

Tuesday morning Jim Cooper of the West Guilford Gospel Church held services in the Chapel. Mr. Cooper delivered an inspiring message and we were pleased to have Norma Barron with us to play the organ while we sang some gospel hymns. It is nice to have Mr. and Mrs. Cooper back after spending the winter at their home in Florida.

Later in the afternoon, we decided to take advantage of the beautiful Spring weather. We loaded the bus and went for a drive to West Guilford, Eagle Lake and back to Minden. On the way home we stopped at Kawartha Dairy Bar and treated ourselves to one of their big delicious ice cream cones. Everyone seemed to enjoy the outing very much.

Wednesday was a regular day with fun and fitness in the morning and crafts in the afternoon.

The ladies of the Gospel Church in West Guilford made the Birthday Tea Party, a very special day for our guests of honour. They served a delicious assortment of sandwiches and bran muffins. They presented Margaret Austin, Ann Fountain and Zilpah Hie with a lovely decorated Birthday Cake. Everyone joined together to sing Happy Birthday to these special people who celebrated their birthdays in the month of April.

Later on Thursday evening, the Kinsmen came to call the numbers for the weekly Bingo game. There were quite a few lucky winners.

We had a stomping good time on Friday afternoon when Mr. Norm Graham paid us a visit and brought along his fiddle. He played some good old time tunes, and we had three hillbillies come and step dance for us. The hillbillies were quite familiar to the residents. We found out that they were some of the housekeeping and activities staff. Doris Robertson accompanied Norm on the piano, and one of the hillbillies played the spoons.

Everyone sure had a good time and I'm sure that the old time fiddle music brought back some memories of when most of our residents square danced until dawn. Our thanks to Norman for taking time to entertain us, and for ending our week with a happy note.

When he has more than he can eat
To feed a stranger's not a feat.
When he has more than he can spend
It isn't hard to give or lend.
Who gives but what he'll never miss
Will never know what giving is.
He'll win few praises from his Lord
Who does but what he can afford.
The widow's mite to heaven went
Because real sacrifice it meant.

You wish that you'd a garden
To grow a flower or two,
Then when you visit shut-in folk
You'd take them round a few?
Nice thought! But chatting for an hour
Can mean as much as any flower.

Guests over the weekend at our home included Mr. and Mrs. Glen Sears and family of Oshawa and Sandra Sears, and Debora Horner of Toronto.

Lines from Lutterworth

by Jean Lacey

Hi! Saw a few cottagers here on the weekend; Lee Oster on Minden Road 1; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Astbury on Sandy Bay Road. It is nice to see them as summer can't be far behind.

The family of the Angus Coulter's held a surprise supper for them on their 61st anniversary. We wish them all the best.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Bowron held a reception for their son Kevin and new daughter-in-law Ruby Shelly from the Dorset area. (They were married April 19). There were about 80 guests, friends, neighbours, relatives with some coming from Mississauga, Pefferlaw, Oshawa, Don Mills, Petawawa and Kwswick. The happy couple will be residing in Haliburton.

Hint of the week: Add a little salt to fresh milk and it will keep fresher longer.

The Lutterworth Library has just exchanged 200 books so come in and browse for books you haven't read. If you don't see what you like just ask, we'll try and get it for you.

COWS IN THE TREES
Cows on the skyline
And in the tree branches
Are not quite expected
On usual ranches;
But down here in Wiltshire
One learns to reflect
That the quite unexpected
Is what to expect.

God bless until next time.

In an ancient wall in China
Where the brooding Buddhas blink,
Deeply graven in this message;
"It's later than you think".
Some wise Oriental wrote it
In the days that used to be
For the ones who watched in vain for
Ships they'd never sent to sea.
For the busy ones who hurried
Past the flowers, by the way;
For the ones who sighed "Tommorrow"
When adventure cried "Today!"
Just six words that tell a story...
With the past a golden link,
Go enjoy yourself, my brother,
It is later than you think!

A Penny's Worth

by Yvonne Penny

Another week of fine spring weather - a little rain but it's typical of April weather.

Best wishes to Donny Griffin and Max Boice in hospital in Peterborough and also to Myra Mason in the local Minden hospital.

The Spring Fashion Show held here in Carnarvon last week was well attended. Our five volunteer models, Joyce Foster, Marilyn Kinsman, Tammy Mace, Joan Fennell and Mary Doey did a terrific job of modelling the fashions.

A large crowd attended the Stanhope Airport Committee dance held last Saturday at the Stanhope Firehall. The music, supplied by disc jockey Ed Whiteway, was excellent as was the delicious buffet lunch served at midnight.
